Show & Tells

Howard Hartman with a baby stroller from his juvenile furniture line.

Earl Rutherford with a large vase turning blank after he 'trued it up' on his new truing machine.

Don Lemp with one of four bedposts he turned out of curly maple.

Sue Caldwell and Winnie Rudd brought their 'Beagle' Intarsia project.

John Phelps brought pictures of the 'cat proof' sand box playpen he built for his grandson.

Richard Hicks bought this spalted ample bowl blank on eBay.

Our club also has 10 new folding chairs. They will be reserved for our visitors until the meeting starts. After we are sure our visitor's needs have been taken care of, members are welcome to use them.

Program

Gene Warden built this rocking horse from some plans that turned out to be inaccurate.

We had a last minute program change. Pete Nealley brought his TV and DVD player to present a program on 'Deep Vessel Turning'. Pete compiled a DVD with several segments recorded from the DYI Television Station. The program provided excellent instruction, including tool selection and technique, on turning deep vessels.

Richard Osborn told us about a recent trip he made. He got to visit a 'water powered' shop that made, among other things, donkey carts. He said the pulley system and belts made a lot more noise than he expected.

The DYI Television Network has several excellent woodworking programs. My favorite is Wood Works with David Marks. The DYI program information is also available on their website: www.dyinetwork.com.

Jerry shivers brought pictures of a walnut 8 drawer chest he made for his daughter - just in time for her baby.

Saturday Program

Ray Ward hosted the Saturday Program Meeting at his shop on March 20th. John Phelps presented the program on 'solid wood carcass construction techniques'. The turnout was good and everyone enjoyed John's presentation. Unfortunately, I was out of town and could not attend so I can't share any of John's presentation in this newsletter.

Door Prize

Steve Nelson won the door prize - worth $25 since he didn't have a show & tell.

New Club Items

Thanks to Rob Emanuel, we now have a new club banner.

It will be used anytime the club meets in public, like the woodworking show in Houston.
